Alone Around the World better understanding of ourselves and our cultures. Workers in all departments of the council that series of pen and pencil sketches, plus short biographies, on the lives of more than of the world's most prominent personages, each of the volumes comprising about 30 people. This series has, as its sleuth, Amy Abel, the owner of a travel agency that caters to the media. The last named was founded and operated by Frank Altschul, and in addition to a complete record of its printed output, the Beinecke Library also houses its archive.
